Subject: Fellowship program of FERCC to help students in climate studies.

Foundation for Education and Research in Climate Change (FERCC) is an organisation working for the promotion of climate change sciences. Currently FERCC is awarding fellowships for a limited period to registered students working in any accredited institute in the field of weather/climate/environment. FERCC is also encouraging PhD students to pursue innovative climate research by giving awards for best paper presentation in conferences, e.g. Tropmet. Further details regarding its purpose and activities can be found on their webpage www.ferccindia.wordpress.com and the concerned officials may also be contacted at fercc6622@gmail.com if and when required.

Interested and eligible IMD officials may apply for the above mentioned Fellowship program under intimation to Organisation Division at;

Email: organisationsection@gmail.com .
